

If businesses that I frequent begin calling me, they aren't going to be doing business with me any longer. There are extremely few reasons that I would want to hear from them. ie: it appears my card or account shows unusual activity. They can send me an email or letter if they want to make me aware of a new service...any other reason is just a scam to uselessly waste my time.

Kelly